

PRODUCTIVITY SCORECARD

UK NATIONS + REGIONS ITL1

Economic inactivity rate

Rates of economic inactivity are mixed across the UK economy. High rates of inactivity may mean labour is not allocated efficiently within the economy, creating a barrier to productivity growth. London, South East and East of England had lower inactivity rates compared to the UK ITL1 median.

Short-term: The inactivity rate was relatively unchanged (22.9%) in 2024. This indicator measures the short term from 2023-2024 and the long term from 2019-2024.
